Dr. Tobin,

It was a pleasure to have you speak to our faculty last spring at the Richards College of Business. The material you presented concerning student ethical conduct and universal design for learning was both informative and helpful. The comments received from the faculty indicated a strong appreciation for your techniques and management perspective.

Many conversations have evolved among faculty since your visit and I believe we are a better organization because of this. In particular a renewed interest in the issues concerning online proctored exams has occurred resulting in the development and adoption of new methodologies.

Thanks again,

Doug
