NEW STYLUS PUBLISHING BOOK, GOING ALT-AC, AVAILABLE JANUARY 30, 2020

[STERLING, VA, January 1]—Stylus Publishing is proud to announce the publication of a new career-planning resource. Going Alt-Ac: A Guide to Alternative Academic Careers focuses on the alternative career choices made by increasing numbers of graduate students and academics. The book is highly practical, providing tools and prompts for readers who are:

- Considering whether to choose alt-ac career paths
- Seeking specific alt-ac positions
- Advising graduate students
- Mentoring recent professional graduates, or
- Encountering their own alt-ac career challenges

A growing number of people completing or holding graduate degrees now seek non-faculty positions—also called alternative academic, or “alt-ac” positions—at different stages in their careers. While an increasing number of people with doctoral degrees are hunting for a diminishing pool of tenure-track faculty jobs, most degree-granting institutions do not adequately prepare their graduate students to enter the new reality of the alt-ac job market. Yet the overall number of alt-ac positions is growing, as colleges, universities, non-profits, companies, and other organizations are creating a diverse range of positions that support teaching and learning efforts.

The authors offer case stories—their own and those of colleagues across North America in alt-ac roles—with concrete examples designed to help readers pursue, obtain, and excel in a wide variety of alt-ac positions. The book can be used equally as a resource for graduate courses on professional development and job-market preparation.

From the foreword:

“The authors have produced a book that anyone contemplating, or negotiating, a non-traditional academic career will want to read. Not only read, but workshop and teach and book-club and share. I think that we will keep Going-Alt Ac on our desks, as both a reference guide and a reminder that we are part of something bigger.”

— Joshua Kim, Director of Digital Learning Initiatives, Dartmouth Center for the Advancement of Learning
